END OF LIFE PLASTICS 2013

4-6 June 2013, Maritim Hotel, Cologne, Germany

AMI is pleased to invite you to attend the international conference End of Life Plastics 2013, which takes place from 4-6 June 2013 at the Maritim Hotel, Cologne, Germany. The event begins with a welcome cocktail reception and exhibition on 4th June followed by a 2-day techno-economic programme. An exhibition will also run alongside the conference.

The whole planet is trying to find sustainable solutions for the future and the spotlight is currently on waste management and ways of using rubbish as a resource and valuable commodity rather than landfill. The drivers are the environmental credentials of products and legislation. The new driver is that there is value in end of life plastics, and a vast global trade has developed with rapid growth in the past few years.

There are a range of ways to recover plastics materials and some of these are more highly developed in specific areas. For example, PET bottle recycling is now fairly well established thanks to the brand owners like Coca-Cola and Nestlé with advanced programmes and partners. In automotive there is increased use of recycle in some components too. However, there are many issues in the recycling industry like how to separate plastics and deal with contamination and degradation.

There are several alternative solutions including complete chemical closed loop recycling to re-synthesise new plastics from recovered chemicals; energy from waste; and plastics to other chemical products like diesel fuel. The technology is advancing to make all of these options look favourable for different waste types.

End of Life Plastics 2013 brings together professionals from the brand owners to the plastics waste management corporations to debate the future options for the industry.

EARLY BIRD REGISTRATION OFFER

Register before 26th April 2013 and pay €890* saving €100* on the full price of €990*. There are additional discounts for group bookings.
